Acknowledgment from the Vice President of Instructional Affairs:

This past year FKCC participated in the Community College Survey of Student Engagement; whose results assisted our faculty in identifying areas of focus for our general education assessment.

Because an average 30% of our student CCSSE respondents indicated that they intend on taking developmental reading, writing and study skills courses, our faculty decided to concentrate collectively on the areas of communication, critical thinking and reading, consequently leading to several programs developing objectives for assessment in these subjects.

Also included in this group assessment was the category of Humanities/Fine Arts. Courses comprising this category address this basic educational need that CCSSE identified since these courses challenge students to effectively express themselves using various mediums.

This collective effort from FKCC faculty demonstrate that the College is achieving its general education goal of identifying student success and continually improving student learning.

I sincerely thank FKCC faculty for their outstanding commitment to quality education.
